ORDER :

The Principal Chief Conservator of Forests in his letter first read above, has stated that the 1076 Kms long coastline of the State is vulnerable to frequent cyclones. Therefore, a study is needed to develop suitable Bio-shield models for the coastal villages to save their life and properties. Bio-shield can reduce wind speed by forcing the air current up and over the windbreak, leaving areas of relative calm on the protected side. The present model would stress on use of local plant species for shelterbelt and compare their effectiveness with the popular exotic model of planting Casuarinas. The Principal Chief Conservator of Forests has therefore proposed to implement the scheme of Developing bio-shields for public safety along the coast, at a cost of Rs.7.03 lakhs during 2015-2016.

2. The State Planning Commission has stated that Bio-shield through tree cover will assist in protecting the coastline from climate related natural disaster and also contribute to ecological restoration of natural vegetation and recommended the proposal of the Principal Chief Conservator of Forests, for Developing bio-shields for public safety along the coast at a total cost of Rs.7.03 lakhs under State Innovation Fund during the year 2015-2016.
